

Hi I am a mad man to be honest girl yeah me being obsessed with psychology especially psychopathology I had an idea to measure how much psychopathic traits we inherent

Psychopaths are normally depicted as villains

And I also have a strong stance that

Psychopaths are not only born but made too

From simple questions I am judging their way of thinking pattern and alignment of the fact that they fall in this category or not

And then using basic math I am calculating their percentages

Well I don't think I have anything left to say
